WILTONA: A $2M DOG'S KENNEL

The Western Region Commission has made a bid to take over the abandoned Wiltona Migrant Hostel — currently the most expensive dog kennel in the world.

The commission wants to convert it into a rehabilitation area for families living in sub-standard housing west of the Yarra.

And while the dickering goes on a stray mongrel dog and two maintenance men are the hostel's only occupants.

Last week the Star was permitted an exclusive look at the $2 million complex in Kororoit Creek Road, Williamstown.

● Wiltona Store-
room. Blankets, anyone?

● The luckiest
dog in the world.
All this and only two humans.

Built to house 1000-
men, women and children the complex has been empty since last November.

At the same time social workers estimate that at least 1000 families are living in substandard dwellings — converted garages, alleged bungalows and sheds —
west of the Yarra.

The complex is made up of two and three bedroom flats in courtyard

cluster style plus, single living quarters.

All units are heated and fully furnished.

There is also a complete kindergarten unit with class rooms capable of handling 40 children,
banking and postal facilities, provision for on site social workers and parking.

Public transport
runs past the front gate.

The huge diningroom

which serves the complex is currently being used as a warehouse
stacked high with hundreds of mattresses,
thousands of blankets,
general linen, crockery
and cutlery.

Mr. Phillip Cairns,
Commonwealth Liaison Officer for the commission said he hoped the 10 member councils would accept responsibility for the hostel.

"Throughout the area
there are hundreds of families in barely liveable shelters because they cannot afford to improve their plight," he said.

"The councils are reluctant to move them on because of the situation."

Mr. Cairns said Wil-tona was not the complete answer to the problem.

"But it is a start.

"Here we have a complex where we could care
properly for families waiting on decent alternative accommodation.

"We could help rehabilitate them — in some way, re-educate.

"Basically what these people need is a chance to reorganise and the opportunity to start again.

Independents take majority

"Don't be repentant — vote Independent", was the pre-election war cry of Ratepayers' Association, president, Mr. Alan Shaw.

And last Saturday the majority of Altona ratepayers voted that way to give the three independents, retiring councillors, Doug Grant and Pat Lynch and running mate Mr. Alan Shaw a convincing win over A.L.P. candidates, Messrs. Alex Bond, Bob Harrison and Tom Lavarato in the 1973 Altona Council elections.

The independents retained the confidence of ratepayers to poll 58 per cent. of the first preference votes.

Almost 35 per cent. of Altona's ratepayers did not vote on Saturday and of those who went to the polling booths, 13.7 voted informally compared with 10.8 per cent. in 1971 and 13.5 per cent in 1969.

Talking to the Star this week, Cr. Doug Grant, who has been re-elected for his third term on council, said he was confident he and Cr. Pat Lynch "would make it".

"The fact that the preferential votes brought in Alan Shaw, was a vote of confidence by the ratepayers," said Cr. Grant.

"They put a lot of work into it," he said, referring to the Ratepayers' Association.

Cr. Grant said he was quite happy with the result which "has certainly shown me where some of my friends are".

"Sitting councillors are generally sitting ducks and we had the unlucky place on the card," he said.

"Fortunately we had enough primaries to win the elections".

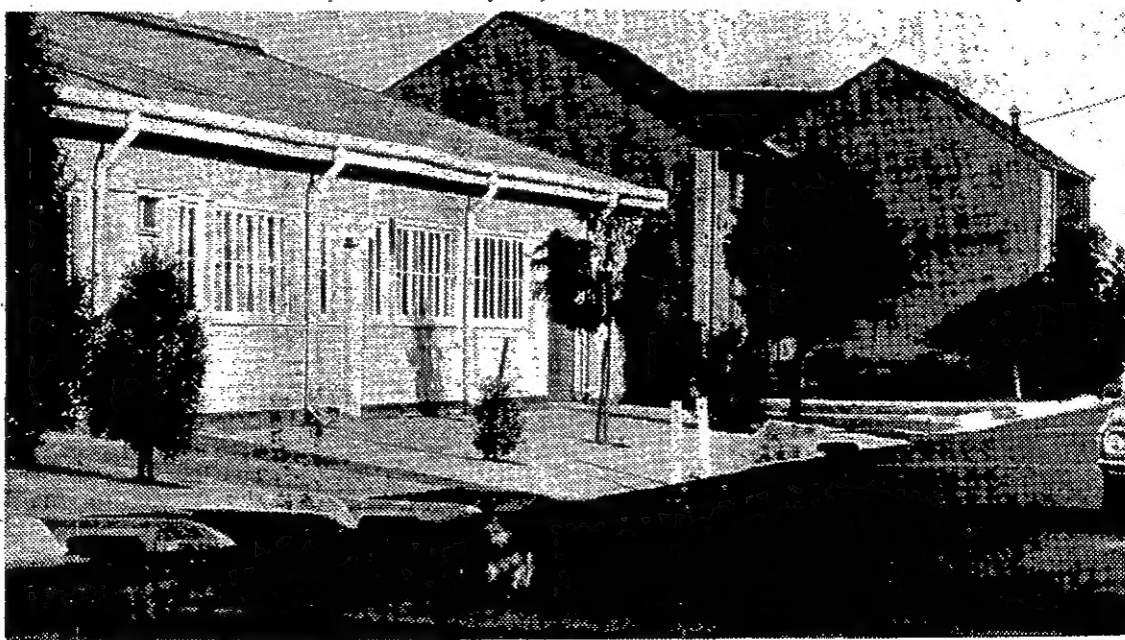

Crs. Grant and Lynch have both spent six years on Altona council and are commencing their third term. New councillor, Mr. Alan Shaw will take the seat left vacant by Cr. Pat Burns who retired from council activities due to ill-health.

A.L.P. candidates, Messrs. Alex Bond and Bob Harrison are both former Altona councillors and third member, Mr. Tom Lavarato, was standing for Altona council for the first time.

Town Clerk, Mr. Syd Fell said school holidays had a great effect on voting and the Municipal Association had endeavored to amend the polling date to take the elections away from the holiday time.

Mr. Fell said the percentage of votes recorded in Altona on Saturday was comparable with voting in other municipalities.

He said another interesting aspect of municipal elections could be affected by the Vowward Report on Local Government which recommended council elections be held only every three years.

New mayor

Altona's next mayor, Cr. Ray Richards, will be officially elected to office tomorrow (Thursday) in the council chambers at 7.55 p.m.

Cr. Richards recently stepped into the breach as deputy mayor when Cr. Charlie Carlsson relinquished the position due to business pressure.

A social evening in the form of a supper dance will follow the mayoral inauguration.

"Wiltona would give them the proper living environment and the added advantages of child care, employment, education in finance handling and home planning.

"Everything will be centralised."

Mr. Cairns said the project would be experimental.

He said it would take approximately $100,000 a year to operate the complex.

Latest reports from Canberra indicate that the Government is still undecided on the hostels' future.

ENGINEER REPORTS ON TRIP

Foreshores: how others do it

Altona's Engineer, Mr. Ralph Simmons, recently back from a world trip, made the following report on foreshore improvement in various parts of the world, to the council.

Pending the completion of a comprehensive report on my overseas tour, the following information concerning foreshore works is submitted.

The cities of Durban, Tel Aviv, Toronto and San Diego were found to be of special interest.

Durban, located on the eastern seaboard of South Africa, is the country's most popular seaside resort.

Within easy walking distance of the centre of the city is the beach and associated resort attractions, including a large salt-water swimming pool, an extensive children's pool with various items of play equipment, and miscellaneous amusement attractions and kiosks.

Under bad storm conditions, waves up to 30 feet high build up in the Indian Ocean and crash on the foreshore, causing severe erosion of the beach. Groynes at right angles to the beach front have been constructed to minimise the loss of sand from the beach.

Model tests have shown that if a submerged bar or bank were to be built parallel to and approximately 4000 feet from the beach front with the top of the bar approximately 20 feet below normal sea level, the waves passing over such a bar would be broken and their energy consequently greatly diminished. Erosion at the beach front would therefore be greatly reduced.

Construction of a bank approximately 35 feet high, 200 feet wide at the top with slopes of 1 in 30 using sand dredged from the entrance to the boat harbor is proposed. A bank 3000 feet long would require approximately 4 1/2 million cubic yds. of sand.

Israel works

Shelters along the beach front and sections of foot-path paving were both attractive and practical.

Tel Aviv, the largest city of Israel, is located on the eastern shore of the Mediterranean Sea.

Not only is there a large number of Jews wishing to settle in Israel, but there is an ever-increasing volume of tourists to the country.

To cater for both the permanent population and the tourist requirements, very extensive works on and adjacent to the foreshore are being undertaken at Tel Aviv.

Modern multi-storey building complexes are being erected along the seafloor and facilities for boat users, swimmers and for people who merely wish to relax on or near the beach are being developed.

To protect and improve the beach, groynes have been constructed both at right angles to and also parallel to the beach front.

The groynes are of random rock dumped by truck and/or placed by crane. A breakwater constructed around two sides of a small harbor-cum-sailing area for small boats was finished in such a manner as to give a pleasant natural stone appearance rather than a man-made structure.

Various types of foot-path paving over extensive areas were attractive.

Toronto, in Canada, is located on the northern shore of Lake Ontario, a body of water 10 times larger in area than Port Phillip Bay.

The lake is of prime importance to the city.

Port facilities, about 500 miles from the ocean, are capable of handling large overseas ships and are located close to the heart of the city.

Boat facilities

Nearby there are beaches with facilities for swimmers and marinas and club facilities for yachtsmen and power boat owners.

With the growth of industries and population in Toronto over the years there has been a great deal of development associated with the port and the foreshore.

Not only have large areas of low-lying foreshore land been reclaimed and developed but extensive areas have been built up off shore by dredging and have been developed as parks for recreational purposes.

In connection with the expansion of port facilities currently being undertaken, an outer harbor is being constructed. This work involved the building of a breakwater almost three miles long in water approximately 30 feet deep and was accomplished within a few years by dumping material excavated from the foundations of city buildings direct into the water from tip trucks.

Aquatic park

A $7 million contract to deepen the new harbor entrance by dredging approximately 15 million cubic yards of sand has been let and work was about to commence when I inspected the area.

The dreaded material is to be pumped to an area adjacent to the end of the break water to form an aquatic park.

San Diego is a coastal city in the south of California, just north of the border with Mexico.

Located at latitude 33 deg. N. and fronting the Pacific Ocean it has a Mediterranean-type climate; the main annual temperature is 22 deg. C. and the average number of sunny days per year is 353.

With such a climate, the high quality of the sandy beaches and the large population of North America it is not surprising that there is an ever-increasing number of visitors using the beach and resort facilities.

Erosion control

The foreshore is subject to erosion and extensive studies have been undertaken to determine how best to protect and maintain various sections of the foreshore and how to create new beach areas.

Following a very heavy loss of sand over a length of approximately a half mile of foreshore, the beach was restored in the first half of this year by dredging sand from the nearby San Diego River outlet channel and pumping it direct to the beach front.

Where the distance from the source of the sand was such that it could not be delivered direct by the dredge, the sand was loaded on to tip trucks and delivered to the required place.

Briefly, at each of the abovementioned cities, extensive works have been, are being, and will be undertaken to minimise and control erosion of foreshore.

The use of groynes and the building up of the beach with large quantities of sand dredged some distance off shore is recommended when financial assistance can be obtained.

High hopes for west in Crean Budget

Only by full-hearted and genuine co-operation can the western area of Melbourne hope for advancement, said the chairman of the Western Region Commission, Cr. Don Myers, after last week's Federal Budget.

Cr. Myers said the one sentence which stood out in Mr. Crean's speech was: "The specific programmes will be worked out with the appropriate State and local Government authorities."

This meant, Cr. Myers said, that the maximum co-operation, co-ordination and good will would be needed between the Federal and Victorian Governments and the commission.

The commission comprises the municipalities of Bulla, Bacchus Marsh, Essendon, Keilor, Melton, Sunshine, Werribee, Altona, Williamstown, and Footscray. It covers an area of 800 square miles and a population of 500,000.

Cr. Myers said several references in the Budget speech were of direct interest to the western area.

These included:
• Allocation of $3 million for the western sectors of Melbourne to be used for such items as surveys and investigations, administrative and technical assistance, housing and welfare demonstration projects.

• Initiatives to overcome the backlog in sewerage service.

• Initiatives to improve the quality of urban life with a programme of efficient and economic public transport in Australian cities.

• Major efforts to improve urban areas and make life in them more pleasant and purposeful.

• And reform in major areas of concern especially in social welfare and the quality of urban life.

Cr. Myers said that other references in Mr. Crean's Federal Budget speech of interest to the people of the western region included an increase of 92 per cent in Government spending on education.

Plans to provide money to buy home sites, more money for health services, including hospital and dental services, home-care programmes for the aged, aid for industry and proposals for improved rail services.

He said: "I would think that we could expect within the next few weeks details from Canberra outlining the Federal Government's approach to the working procedures for the implementation of aid programmes to local government."

"It should be appreciated that the defining of these procedures not only for the west of Melbourne, but for all of Australia, and the essential talks between the Commonwealth and State governments must take a lot of time."

"In all the circumstances, enormous and fast progress has been made, and we of the west are happy, indeed to be in the forefront of the proposals to implement regional proposals for local government areas."

Lavarato, T.	143
Lynch, P. J.	4567
Shaw, A. B.	183

P. J. LYNCH, having polled an absolute majority, was declared elected.

The second preference votes of P. J. Lynch and the third preference votes of D. K. Grant were then distributed and the adjusted figures for other candidates then read as follows:—

Bond, A. W.	3570
Harrison, R. K.	214
Lavarato, T.	179
Shaw, A. B.	4587

A. B. SHAW, having polled an absolute majority, was then declared elected.

And I hereby declare candidates Douglas Keith Grant, Patrick Joseph Lynch, and Alan Bruce Shaw duly elected as Councillors of the City of Altona for the three years ending, August 1976.
Date, August 26, 1973, (12.02 a.m.).
S. FELL,
RETURNING OFFICER.

Harry Weaver says thanks

The retiring Mayor of Altona, Cr. Harry Weaver, has issued the following message to the people of the city:

"As our year of office as mayor and mayoress draws to a close, my wife, Lorna, and I look back with a pleasing knowledge and appreciation of the very high community spirit which prevails in our city.

"To be the fifth mayor and mayoress, in this the sixteenth year of Altona's municipal history, has been a great honor and with our children, Paul, Jennifer and Peter, we have been thrilled with the opportunity to represent the municipality at a varied number of functions — from the small kindergarten fancy-dress judging to the massive club presentation nights — they have all been a pleasure to attend.

"The mayoress and I, having lived in Altona for most of our lives, have reaped much pleasure in attending the various functions which have been attended by so many Altona people whom we know so well.

"A year of mayoral duties gives one a greater insight into the workings of the city, and the visits to the various clubs and organisations opens one's eyes to the number of people who are working so earnestly to cater for the education and better living of the youth and citizens of Altona. Without doubt, the contribution of these people in their work through the various clubs and organisations, makes Altona such a good place in which to live.

"To my eight fellow councillors and their wives, I thank you for your support during our year. Also, I thank the council staff for their assistance.

"To the many people who have accepted the invitation to attend meetings of council, 'Thank you'. This attendance has facilitated informal discussion between councillors and ratepayers during the supper break. With my colleagues, I have welcomed this opportunity to discuss with residents, a variety of matters, both large and small, but all of importance in the welfare of our city."

Awards for hockey

Guests at the recent pre-election meeting of Altona Council included members of Altona Hockey Club and their wives and Miss Altona Apex 1973, Miss Barbara Ann Kersley.

The hockey club party was led by the club president, Mr. Brian Smith. At the beginning of the meeting, Altona's retiring Mayor, Cr. Harry Weaver, presented certificates of merit to the coaches and members of the victorious under-16 and under-10 hockey sides.

After making the presentations, Cr. Weaver said: "Hockey is an education in Altona and started here in 1937. I think it was the Methodist Baptist Church team then."

Also present in the chamber at the mayor's invitation was the Member of Parliament for Gisborne, Mr. Athol Guy.

Art Nouveau

Art Nouveau was one of the shortest lived periods in the history of art (from 1890s to 1920s approximately). As short as it was it has left an impact of importance on the art world and thus antiques.

As a style of art it was a complete break from all styles that had gone before it.

I see it as a reaction to the mass-produced materials of the industrialisation of the prior years.

The theme basic to the whole "Art Nouveau" style is the return to the natural flowing lines.

Thus, the plant, flower, things such as smoke, a woman's hair, become the most dominant objects used in "Art Nouveau" furniture, ceramics, glass, jewellery, posters, paintings and architecture.

Two of the founders of the Art Nouveau style were William Morris and Arthur Mackmurdo. Both established arts and crafts guilds with the idea of getting pure art from pure craftsmen. Art Nouveau, although originally given impulse from England, later spread to the Continent, especially France.

Several motifs keep recurring in Art Nouveau work, in particular the peacock, the peacock feathers, trees and plants, the female face and figure, the sea and sea plants, insects, the rose and the honesty flower.

GLASS.

Emile Gallé was a French glass artist, his glass work usually of pastel colors and of plant motifs successfully combined a matt-gloss finish. Tiffany was probably one of the more well-known Art Nouveau glass artists, and his speciality was his mushroom-type, stained glass lamps. Tiffany used a special method of making glass, this he called Favril glass.

His initial idea for his technique was started after his observation of the erosive and oxidising effects on glass which had been exposed to natural gases, &c.

Tiffany reproduced these nature-made effects on glass mechanically. Alet Gascoyne and Hector Guimard were most noted in Art Nouveau for their stained-glass windows.

The Daum brothers and Johann Lotz and Almeric Walter were most famous for their "Pate de Verre" method of glass-making.

This method used glass that had been ground to fine powder, then mixed with a liquid it was baked in a mould.

JEWELLERY.

It seems that in jewellery, Art Nouveau found its best expression. Some beautiful pieces of jewellery were made by Art Nouveau artists.

Foremost would be Frenchman Rene Lalique, whose brooches, hair ornaments, pendants, combs, pins, &c. adorned such notabilities as Sarati Bernhardt, Alfons Mucha, Fouquet, Vever, Feuillette.

All the precious stones and metals were used by these artists.

The most popular themes again were the peacock, insects, plants, flowers and the female figure. One of the most popular combinations used was blue enamel and silver.

METAL WORK.

As in jewellery, the elegant lines of Art Nouveau work was best displayed in metal work. In the metal work also, it is the fairy-tale aspect of Art Nouveau that comes through.

Reynolds, Ashbee, Hoffman, Karagerovitch were all artists in metal. Pewter-marked "Tubric" is Art Nouveau and silver marked "Cymbric" is also Art Nouveau.

CERAMICS.

T. Doat did much work in ceramics for the Sevres factory in France; Art Nouveau tiles are one example of his work. The Loez factory, too, specialised in the Art Nouveau type of ceramic. Artists included Richard Riemerschmid, Zsolnay Pecs, M. Laeuger, Fvovsey, L. Marjorelle, A. Gaudi, J. Kok.

PAINTINGS, SCULPTURE
The theme that runs through the Art Nouveau paintings seems to be mainly that of man and nature. Artists include: Herbert Herkomer, Auguste Roden (1840-1917), Thorn Prikker (1868-1932), S. Bing, Godet, S. Obiolo, W. Crane (children's books), Herman Obrist, Jan Toorop, Frank Brangwyn (1867-1956), Alphonse Mucha (Posters and Advertising), Eugene Grasset, A. Beardsley, Otto Eckmann (1865-1902), Ernst Barlach, Kolo Moser (1868-1918) graphics, P.B., Johan Thorn.

ARCHITECTURE.

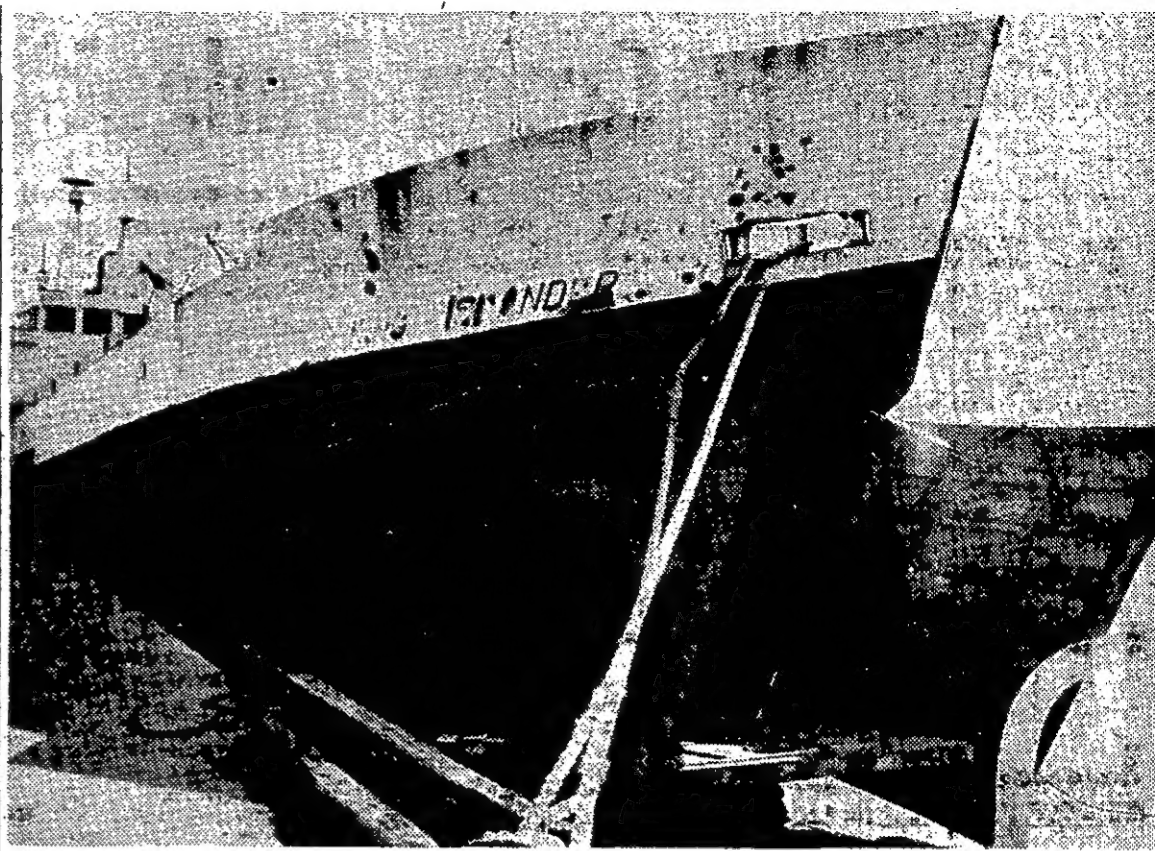

Charles Rennie, Macintosh, P. Behrens, J. Hoffman, Oho Wagner, Gustav Klimt.

Art Nouveau can be found fairly easily, but like all collectable items, the choice pieces are always the most difficult to find.

Next week Mr. Ferris will be writing about LAMPS.

If you have any article you would like assessed by Mr. Ferris, please write to him, c/o the Williamstown Advertiser.

Beach clean was tops

Altona's annual "operation beach clean" has won a certificate of commendation in the community effort award competition conducted by Altona Jaycees.

During the last beach-clean season more than 450 Altona children spent a total of 715 hours clearing the foreshore of glass and rubbish left by beachgoers.

This was the highest number of youth hours spent since the beach-clean came into being 13 years ago.

In 1959, before the start of "operation beach-clean", Altona Lifesaving Club reported 96 injuries resulting from broken glass. This year only three casualties were reported.

$250,000 art show at exhibition

The largest art show ever in Australia will be held at Melbourne's Exhibition Buildings from September 1-9.

Value of the show is in excess of $250,000. More than 1600 paintings by Victorian artists and a living art demonstration featuring spinning, weaving, potting on wheels, candlemaking, silversmithing, tapestry, pavement chalk painting, copper enamelling, metal and leather work, batik, opal cutting, jewellery making, oil and water color painting, glass working and macrame.

A highlight of the 1973 Melbourne Art Show will be a tribal dancing demonstration by Mornington Island Aborigines.

The ferry that ran twice a week between King Island and Williamstown for many years is being converted to a prawn-fishing vessel and will go to Queensland.

The ferry — the King Islander — was taken out of service last year because lack of support made the service uneconomic.

The only contact people on King Island now have with the mainland is by air.

The King Islander was bought by a prawn-fishing company, Craig Mostyn.

She will be used for prawn fishing off the northern Queensland coast. She is being overhauled and refitted by Hobson's Bay Dock and Engineering Company Pty. Ltd., of Williamstown.

THROUGH THE PIPELINE

with JOHN BRINDLEY

ONE of Melbourne's biggest removal jobs will be undertaken over next week-end when the Board moves into its new Headquarters Building at 625 Little Collins Street.

THE Board's staff are at present scattered throughout 12 buildings in various parts of the city. The move will start on Friday afternoon and continue non-stop. From next Monday, the Board's address will be at the new building, 625 Little Collins Street, and all payments and enquiries should be made there.

TESTS designed to evolve an effective method of noise reduction on freeways are to be undertaken by the Board on the South-Eastern Freeway near the Heyington Railway bridge. A specially designed wall will be erected.

TOWN PLANNING AMENDMENT

Proposed Amendment No. 30 to the Metropolitan Planning Scheme has been approved by the Board for public exhibition for three months to November 22nd, 1973, at the Board's Head Office and at the offices of the Town and Country Planning Board and Municipal Councils. During that time public comment is invited. Amendment 30 proposes new standards for development of residential areas. It introduces a range of controls on the construction of multi-unit dwellings, but also will give greater flexibility in the siting of detached housing.

KEEN interest is being shown in the seminar to be held at Monash University on Saturday, September 8th, to discuss the Port Phillip Bay Environmental Study. The seminar has been planned by the Study Group which comprises the Board of Works, the Fisheries and Wildlife Department, the Port Phillip Authority and 18 other organisations including conservation groups and representatives from the commercial, industrial, town planning and engineering fields. Those wishing to attend the seminar can make enquiries to Mr. P. Evans, Image Australia Pty. Ltd., telephone 347 2411 or 347 7801.

Altona may hold key

By LAURIE SCHWAB

Sunshine City is clutching at a straw called Ajax.

On Saturday, Ajax meets Mooroolbark at St. Albans. If Ajax manages a draw, Sunshine could be promoted to State League.

At the moment, Sunshine and Mooroolbark are level on points at the top of the First Division ladder but Mooroolbark holds top spot due to its superior goal average. If Ajax holds the Barkers to a draw, Sunshine will win the championship — provided it beats Altona at Kim Reserve on Sunday.

These are a lot of "ifs" and "buts". I can't see Mooroolbark being deprived on the championship.

It's a tragedy for Sunshine, which has so far accumulated an incredible 35 points, 11 more than third placed Frankston.

However, two teams from the western suburbs will definitely be promoted to higher divisions after the final Metropolitan League round this weekend.

They are Albion Rovers which should finish second in Second Division and Newport which will be runner-up to Olympic in Third Division.

Not one west suburban team will be relegated this year.

In State League on Sunday, Footscray J.U.S.T. returns to the competition after a two-week lay-off due to the absence of two players on national team duty.

J.U.S.T. meets George Cross at Schintler Reserve, in a match that could decide the State League championship.

If J.U.S.T. wins it will overtake George Cross and almost certainly win the title.

Ajax v. Mooroolbark

If Ajax is to make any impression on Mooroolbark it must neutralise Brian Edgeley and Terry Lane.

Edgeley, the coach of Mooroolbark, has scored 20 goals this season and has been the team's driving force all year.

Lane, who was bought from Hakoah two years ago for a large fee, is the team's mid-field schemer and is also, extremely dangerous near the goal.

Mooroolbark's strong man in defence is former Lions player Mike Bartley, who gets able support from Terry Allsopp.

Altona v. Sunshine

Altona fell victim to Mooroolbark last week, losing 0-2 in the first half, when Edgeley and John Howarth scored the goals.

Sunshine was held scoreless during the first half by Ringwood but late goals by Albert Seenan, Bobby Pocock, Jim McRobert and Wilf Laing finally gave the visitors a 4-0 victory.

It was largely the excellent defence of Altona's Ian Hynds that kept Mooroolbark scoreless during the second half last week and this fine player will give Sunshine many headaches at Kim Reserve on Sunday.

It's the last match of the Metropolitan League season and a huge crowd is expected to justify the decision to play Sunday matches in the league for the first time.

Despite Hynds and the threat posed by Altona striker David Lord, I expect Sunshine to grab the initiative in midfield and score a narrow victory.

J.U.S.T. v. Geo Cross

With Branko Buljevic and Jimmy Milisavljevic back from Teheran, Footscray J.U.S.T. will be back to its old self — almost.

I say almost because ace striker Slobodan Zoraja is likely to be on the sidelines due to a knee injury which has plagued him for the past two seasons.

It remains to be seen whether the J.U.S.T. attack can perform as well without him. I doubt it and therefore I expect the match on Sunday to finish in a draw.

Buljevic will make a big difference but this season he has been mainly the architect of goals, not the scorer.

Soren Flsker will be there next to him but this Danish import has scored only once all season, so fans won't expect much from him.

Slobodan Lukic has returned to Yugoslavia, leaving Frank Micic with an even greater burden.

He has done a mountain of work all year, even with Lukic by his side, so you can imagine how much he'll have to do now. Yet it is Micic who will win the game for J.U.S.T. if George Cross is to be beaten. The 33-year-old veteran has not only been making the play but he's also been scoring goals.

Obviously, the Cross must mark him if it is to keep its title hopes alive.

It must also try to field an effective link combination which can match his talents.

John Gardiner is the best midfield player the Cross has; what's more he's one of the best in the league.

It's argued that Gardiner does not chase, and that's true to an extent although we saw him at his mobile best against Santos early this year.

So why not have someone like Tom Fox or Paul Deeming do Gardiner's running for him and letting Gardiner call the shots?

Joe Cunningham has proved a great success in attack this year but I can't see him making an impression on Andy Kazi and Jovan Milinovic and the Cross' wingers Dario Epifano and Frank McArdle will have their work cut out against Mate Zivkovic and Marjan Lopatic.

Let's face it, they've conceded only nine goals all year. The George Cross defence is nowhere near as good.

Norm Maitland is steady and Alex McConville is usually reliable.

However, there's been a problem with the second centre back position and with the right back post, vacated by Derek Ricks when he returned to England a few weeks ago.

Former Wolves and Workington player Joe Wilson has been imported to fill Ricks' boots but he hasn't done a good job so far.

The centre back post had been filled in turn this year by Kevin Kelly, Gardiner, Fox and Paul Murphy. None of them has played there regularly.

When you put it that way, George Cross looks a bit of a mess.

This is not the case, however. Although the team is not world-beater, it has managed to stay in the running for the championship due to its pressure play.

This type of gutsy approach will worry the more refined J.U.S.T. and should offset the Yugoslavs' greater skills to the extent that a draw is likely.

Polonia v. Hellas

The only satisfaction the Polish community is likely to have at Maribyrnong on Sunday is seeing Miss Polonia, 19-year-old Jozsia Sosnowska, kick off the match.

From then on, it's likely to be one-way traffic directed by Hellas Linkmen Peter Bourne and Ian Marshall.

Jozsia, a university student, of Rosanna, was crowned at Polonia's annual ball at the Royal Ballroom last Saturday.

Danuta Stec of Sunshine was crowned Miss Charity Queen on the same night.

Perhaps it would be a good idea to have Jozsia and Danuta stand on the sidelines on Sunday to distract the Hellas players.

With Mike Olinowski still in doubt due to a bout of the flu, Polonia needs all the help it can get.

Hakoah v. Austria

Although Hakoah got the drop on George Cross last week, it won't have an easy task against Austria at Middle Park on Saturday.

Austria functions thus: Jock Goodwin and Jim Kondaros defend in the middle, Hans Hinze and Steve Brown defend on the flanks. John Truskowski defends in front of them and Graeme Bibby hangs around to clear the balls, the other defenders miss.

That makes a total of seven defenders if you count goalkeeper Fred Schol.

Get past that lot, Hakoah!

Socceroos' programme

An intensive training programme is being drawn up for Australia's national soccer team to prepare it for the final World Cup elimination matches against South Korea.

Australian Soccer Federation

J.U.S.T. BACK

secretary Mr. Brian le Fevre said last night the team would play exhibition matches in most Australian capital cities and would also train mid-week.

The ASF is moving swiftly after losing to South Korea at the negotiating table in Tehran last Sunday.

South Korea won the toss of a coin at a meeting to decide venues and elected to play the first of the two matches against Australia in Sydney.

Dates of the matches are October 27 or 28 in Sydney and November 10 in Seoul.

ASF representatives John Barclay and Vic Tutting agreed to the dates although they do not suit Australia.

The ASF had hoped the matches would be played earlier so that its players would not be idle for too long.

Mr. le Fevre said last night: "Frankly, I don't know why we agreed to the dates."

"They should simply have settled the venues and worked out the dates later, with the help of FIFA."

Mr. le Fevre said the national team's "Australia tour" would probably not take in Melbourne, whose club competition extends into October.

He said, he expected gate takings at matches throughout Australia to pay for the team's expenses.

Australia qualified to meet South Korea last Friday, when it beat Iran 3-2 on aggregate.

The winner over the two-match series in Sydney and Seoul will take part in the 1974 World Cup finals in West Germany.

"ATHLETE OF THE DECADE"

HOW TO PLAY HILLY SAND SHOTS

Many golfers who otherwise perform admirably on sand shots fail to achieve similar excellence when they must play from a hilly lie in the bunker.

I like to simplify the sand shot swing by making it the same for all shots, regardless of whether the bunker is level or tilted.

The only adjustment I make on downhill or uphill sand shots is to play the ball from a different position in my stance.

I recommend playing the ball opposite the left heel on normal sand shots, but farther forward on downhill shots. I do so to make certain that the clubhead will enter the sand well behind the ball and not "blade" it (illustration #1).

Uphill sand shots I play a bit farther back, more toward stance center. This allows me to contact the sand a bit closer to the ball (illustration #2) as an aid in moving the clubhead well through the increased amount of sand I will encounter by hitting into the upslope.
